PERSHING URGES U.S. TO PREPARE

President's Outline Of Huge Defense Program Awaited; Norris Warns Against Haste

WASHINGTON, May 15—(AP)—President Roosevelt sped work today on his request for an extraordinary defense program expected to cost $976,000,000 but the White House said he still would be unable to whip it into shape for submission to congress before tomorrow.

While the president has decided on the amount he will request to bulwark the army and navy, it was said that the figure would not be disclosed until the message reached Capitol hill.

The senate naval committee contributed to the armament discussion by submitting a recommendation for an 11 per cent fleet expansion bill, saying that the resultant defense force would be so effective "that few nations, not excluding victorious totalitarian nations, will challenge its power."

In connection with the pending authorization bill, which would add 19 fighting ships to the navy's "paper fleet," the committee said a total of $45,400,000 should be made available in immediate appropriations.

Pershing Urges Speed

Of this amount, $18,000,000 is needed to provide additional shipbuilding facilities and $27,400,000 for initial construction costs on 63 vessels previously approved by congress or authorized in the pending legislation, the report said.

Gen. Pershing, who led the A. E. F. in France two decades ago, counselled against any delay in a rare public statement.

"Every energy in this country should be devoted to the idea of putting the United States in a condition of thorough preparedness against the possibility of war," he said on arriving yesterday from a winter's sojourn in the west.

"Preparedness is as necessary today as it was when war was declared in 1917, and we find ourselves in the same condition."

Recalls Protection of 1916.

The 79-year-old general pointed out that then the allies "protected us during more than a year of preparation.

"Today," he added, "the situation is utterly different."

President Roosevelt, working in his shirt sleeves, conferred yesterday with congressional and military leaders and then tild reporters that the armaments race had been forced upon the country and that it must keep abreast.

National defense is the important thing, he said, and the method of financing it is of secondary consideration.

976 Millions for Defense.

Authoritative sources said that the president would recommend an increase of $726,000,000 in army funds and $250,000,000 more for the navy. The objectives would be to complete equipment for 1,000,000 troops, put warship construction in high gear, and bulwark coast defenses.

This emergency fund would swell national defense outlays for the year starting July 1, to about $2,724,000,000—by far a peacetime record.

The salient features of the president's program, congressional informants said, would include:

1. Production of "critical" items of equipment, such as semi-automatic rifles, tanks, artillery and anti-aircraft weapons in sufficient quantities for field forces of 750,000 men and 250,000 replacements. Officials said this would cost about $265,000,000 and require from one to two years.
2. Addition of 15,000 men to the army's enlisted strength to permit creation of another streamlined infantry division and provision for training 7,000 additional pilots for the air corps.
3. Acceleration of warship construction already underway and expansion of facilities for training naval fliers.
4. Strengthening of seacoast defenses, for which the army has estimated $82,600,000 will be needed in this country, Panama, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico.
5. Acquisition of 200 additional four-engined bombers at a cost of $80,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt yesterday said that very little had been spent on defense between 1921 and 1933, making it necessary now for the country to make up for lost time.

Norris Not Convinced.

A make-haste-slowly suggestion came from white-hairer Senator Norris of Nebraska, the only remaining senator who voted against this country's declaration of war on Germany in 1917.

"I am not convinced that we ought to spend a half billion dollars or more on national defense right now," he said. "I think we ought to try to take advantage of new discoveries coming out of this war."

On this point, however, President Roosevelt told his press conference that the projected expansion of defense establishments was necessitated by the knowledge and experience gained in the last few weeks of the European war.

City Appointees

said at least 15 German planes had been destroyed.

British losses were placed at 35 planes, which, the air ministry said, were "not considered excessive" in view of the results.

A Dutch radio report said German motorized troops were pouring into The Hague, the Dutch capital, which capitulated late yesterday when the Netherlands high command declared Holland's resistance was broken.

Britain Threatened.

Germany besought Belgium today to follow the Netherlands example and lay down her arms, threatened Great Britain with a blitzkrieg from the Dutch coast and hammered a wedge deeper into France.

The Belgians, allied with the British and French for the "greatest battle of all time," showed no signs of compliance.

Otherwise the war appeared to be stabilizing into a conflict of position along the bloody banks of the Meuse river and the Albert canal—from France's fortified zone of the north, through the Ardennes mountains to the coastal plains of Belgium.

Urge Belgians To Quit.

The Berlin radio urged the Belgians to "stack your arms... Germany does not want war with the Belgian nation."

Ensconced now on the coast of the Netherlands, nazi Germany's air and submarine fleet today had new and closer bases for lightning jabs against England.

A Berlin radio announcer said England could expect a body blow.

Britain sped recruiting of a home front army to fight any invasion by German parachute troops.

All but one of the 11 provinces in the Netherlands were opened today for Germany's occupation without opposition.

Commander-in-Chief Gen. Henri Gerard Winkelman gave the order for laying down of arms everywhere except in Zeeland, southwestern province containing the port of Vlissingen (Flushing).

Swiss Fearful.

Still-neutral Switzerland, fully mobilized and fearful of invasion, looked on worriedly as picked nazi troops practiced for the third day in succession the throwing of a pontoon bridge across the Rhine, just where nazi troops would have to cross to attack France through Switzerland.

In Italy the more pro-German elements saw in the Netherlands' capitulation further evidence of the vaunted military power of Germany, its axis partner.

But Italian authorities put a stop to a new anti-allied demonstration.

At Narvik, in northern Norway, the isolated nazi garrison cannot possibly hold on much longer, the Stockholm newspaper Tidningen reported. Narvik was reported devastated by allied bombardments of the past few days.

the Luxembourg frontier. From there an extension, the "little Maginot line," runs northwestward to the North sea, including the Sedan sector. Sedan, however, lies on the outer edge of the extension.

(German penetration there, the British spokesman insisted, does not mean a break through of the Maginot defenses.)

Allied Air Losses Large.

Communique put allied air losses at 200 planes yesterday alone—(raising to about 1,400 the total reported destroyed in the six days of the campaign — and said "enemy efforts to hamper German fighting activityq" through air attack were repulsed.

It acknowledged only that "35 of our planes are missing."

"Armed reconnaissance before the Netherlands coast yielded great successses," it added. "As previously reported in a special announcement, two cruisers and one destroyer were sunk by bomb hits, an additional cruiser was struck by a bomb, one merchant ship of 9,0200 tons and four transports were destroyed."

JURY CHOSEN TO TRY REV. BRONNENKANT'S $55,250 DAMAGE SUIT

A District court jury was chosen in Judge Broady's court to hear Father Felix Bronnenkant's $55,250 suit for damages allegedly resulting from his being held in the state hospital from Aug. 23, 1935, to Nov. 10, 1938. Defendants are Bishop L. B. Kucera, David G. Griffiths, Sister Gaudiosa Engle, Sister Burchard Coleman, Father Leslie V. Barnes and Thomas E. Hayes.

Opening statements were made by attorneys Wednesday morning. Jack Hayward, representing Father BBronnenkant, told the jury he would seek to prove his client was wrongfully held in the state hospital and was not restored to the rights and privileges of the church to which he is entitled. The priest was released from the hospital on a writ of habeas corpus.

House Bill To Deport Bridges Is Approved

. . Singles Out Labor Leader

WASHINGTON, May 15—(AP)—The house committee on immigration gave its approval today to a bill introduced with the single purpose of deporting Harry Bridges, west coast labor leader.

The bill was introduced only yesterday by Rep. Allen (D-La) who said it was the only bill of its kind ever offered.

Dean James M. Landis of Harvard law school, acting as a special investigator for the labor department, recently held Bridges was not deportable.

Bridges, who is a native Australian now undergoing the naturalization process, has denied that he was a communist or advocated violent overthrow of the government.

At the same time, the committee voted to shelve a bill by Rep. Leland M. Ford (R-Cal) which would have required the deportation of all alients who are communists or communist sypathizers.

Bergdoll Knows About German Secret Gun, Wife Writess F. D. R.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15—(AP)—Mrs. Berta Bergdoll informed President Roosevelt by letter today that her World war draft dodger husband "knows something important" about the "secret weapon" used by Germany.

The native-born German woman, who became Bergdoll's wife during the years he was a fugitive in Germany, said she talked with him yesterday in the Governors Island, N. Y., army prison where he is serving a sentence for draft evasion.

He told me he knows something important about the secret cannon the Germans used in Belgium," she said in her letter to the president. "He wants to tell this to you so you will know he knows what he is talking about, especially a new gun the Germans have."

Bergdoll ended his self-imposed exile last year and returned to the United States to stand trial.

Three priests were ordained at St. Mary's cathedral Wednesday morning.

They were Rev. Alphonse Joseph Lisko of Osceola, Rev. George John Livanec of Cleveland and Rev. Edward Charles Tuchek of Protivin, Ia.

Kaczmarek, deacon of mass; Rev. Daniel Cooper, sub-deacon; Msgr. M. W. Helmann and Rev. Anthony Trausch, masters of ceremonies.

Father Lisko will sing his first solemn mass on May 16 in St. Mary's Catholic rural church at Pilsno, Polk county. It will be the first time in the little church's 50 years of existence that it has witnessed a mass by one of its native sons.

Father Livanek will sing his first solemn mass in Cleveland on May 19 and Father Tuchek will sing first solemn mass in Protivin on May 22.

Many friends and relatives were present at the cathedral for the ordination ceremonies.

975 Million Relief Bill Before House

marred by abuses including improvement of private property at public expense, over-manned projects, "padded sponsors' contributions," and inadequate supervision and operation of projects on which a high percentage of nonrelief labor was required.

Worst Situation In Louisiana.

The worst situation found by the subcommittee which investigated WPA, the appropriations group said, was in Louisiana, where some state officials have faced criminal charges.

The $975,650,000 WPA appropriation was compared with a $1,477,000,000 relief outlay for the full 12 months of the current year. The committee said the proposed sum would provide employment for an average of 1,330,000 persons if used over a 12 months period or 1,950,000 on an eight months basis.

Permission to use the money in eight months, if necessary, was recommended, the committee said, on President Roosevelt's request that this be done and in the light of reports showing a decline in industrial activities since January, when the chief executive made his original request for $975,650,000 for 12 months.

Restrictions On Number.

While clearing the way for expenditure of all the money in eight months, the committee—without explaining why—wrote into the law restrictions on the total number of persons who could be employed in the five months from July 1 until after the November elections.

These restrictions which the committee said were based on WPA'S estimates of its own needs were a top of 1,700,000 persons for the months of July, August and September; 1,800,000 for October and 2,000,000 for November.

House leaders arranged to take up the big relief measure today after completing work on the farm appropriation.

In addition to WPA funds the measure carried, as recommended by the appropriation committee, $115,000,000 for rural rehabilitation work of the agriculture department, a cut of $8,000,000 under Mr. Roosevelt's request; $3,500,000 for the Puerto Rico reconstruction administration, a cut of $3,500,000; and $1,700,000, the amount requested, for Indian service relief. Additional allowances for administrative work in connection with relief were also included in the bill's $1,111,754,819 total.

Reduction From Current Year.

The measure represented a $543,075,984 reduction when compared with corresponding appropriations for the current fiscal year, and a cut of $14,300,084 below the president's recommendations for the next year.

The office of government report, a white house agency to which the committee once refused a $1,055,000 appropriation, was allowed $500,000 in today's bill.

The house decision to take up the relief bill shifted congressional action from the senate, which voted 46 to 34 yesterday to uphold President Roosevelt's transfer of the civil aeronautics authority to the commerce department.

Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) voted for the proposal and Senator Burke voted against it.

The aeronautics fight in the senate was intense, since the house previously had rejected the transfer proposal. In order to block the change, it was necessary for both branches of congress to disapprove it.

Transfer to Go In Effect.

As a result of the senate action, the CAA will lose its independent status June 10. The separate air safety board will be abolished and the weather bureau shifted from the agriculture to the commerce department.

The senate also confirmed the nomination of J. Monroe Johnson, assistant secretary of commerce, to be a member of the interstate commerce commission. Mr. Roosevelt has announced that he would give Johnson's commerce post to Chairman Robert Hinckley of the CAA. This, he asserted, would guarantee continuation of the agency's current independence.

MERCURY TUMBLES TO 22 AT SIDNEY

. . . Lincoln Has 40

Strong northwest winds which swept much of Nebraska Tuesday and Tuesday night, following spotted heavy rains, brought the mercury down to below freezing in many western Nebraska points.

Sidney was the lowest, with 22, although the weather bureau had no information as to the extent of frost damage. North Platte, with a minimum of 27, reported light frost, and Valentine, with 28, had a heavy frost. Burwell had 31.

The mercury dropped to 40 at the Lincoln airport, and to 42 downtown, and it was slowly rising Wednesday morning, getting up to 47 at 7:30. New rain included .14 at Omaha and .12 at Sioux City.

Omaha Uni. Law School To Close Doors On July 1

OMAHA, May 15—(AP)—The 47-year old University of Omaha law school will be dissolved July 1.

Elmer Thomas, dean of the school, charged Wednesday that the closing was a result of opposition of regular day law schools to night law schools.

The decision to dissolve the school followed a ruling by the Nebraska supreme court withholding approval of the school. The school's application for approval was presented to the court April 26, denied May 1. Without such approval, graduates of the school will be barred from taking the state bar examination, Thomas said.

Mrs. Pike Awarded Judgement of $5,905

Verdict Against Wittenberg In Suit Over Fatality Largest Here In Recent Years

A District court jury awarded Bessie Pike judgment for $5,905.50 Wednesday in the death of her husband, William Carter Pike, in a traffic accident Nov. 1, 1939. The judgment was returned against Edwin Wittenberg, driver of the automobile which struck Mr. Carter at Fifteenth and L streets. Ben Simon and Sons, owners of the vehicle, were dismissed from the action by Judge Broady on the grounds there was no evidence that Wittenberg was working for them or in their service at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Pike sued for $15,592.05 as administratrix of her husband's estate. He died Nov. 2, a day after he was struck. The jury received the case at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday and returned its verdict at 9:05 a. m. Wednesday. Court officers said it was the largest single judgment granted by a jury in the past several years in accident cases.

U. P. Is Allowed To Substitute Caretaker For Princeton Agent

The state railway commission refused the request of the Union Pacific railroad Tuesday to close its station at Princeton but allowed the road to substitute a caretaker for its agent there June 1.

The ruling was one of four station cases the commission decided. Commissioner Swanson suggested the Union Pacific's application be allowed but he was out voted by Commissioners Maupin and Good who favored the caretaker compromise.

Good split with his colleagues on decisions concerning agencies at Riverton in Franklin county and Holmesville in Gage. Over Good's protest the Burlington was permitted to substitute a custodian for its agent at Riverton. Good then proposed that the Union Pacific be permitted to substitute a custodian for its agent at Holmesville but not to close the station. Swanson and Maupin opposed the suggestion and voted to allow abandonment of the Holmesville station.

The commissioners were in agreement on allowing applications from the Union Pacific to close its stations at Touhy in Saunders county, and Loma in Butler county. All orders were made effective June 1.

More Moisture Is Needed In Most Sections

More moisture is needed in most sections of Nebraska despite recent rains, according to the U. S. D. A. weather and crop summary for the week which ended Saturday.

"All small grains deteriorated, particularly winter wheat and rye," the report states. "Surface moisture is short over much of the state, particularly in south central and southwestern counties."

The report points out, however, that rains brought relief to some eastern counties and early winter wheat in southeastern and western Nebraska is still promising. Early pastures are in poor condition. Some cattle and hogs have been reported poisoned from dry pasture.

Out of 79 counties reporting, 55 said rainfall was short. Out of 83 counties reporting, 37 said surface moisture was short and 70 said subsoil moisture was short.

'Hoppers Hatching.

Grasshoppers are reported hatching in northwestern counties and Mormon crickets are appearing in Banner county.

By divisions, the rainfall situation for the 7-day period ending May 11 is summarized as follows:

EASTERN DIVISION—Seven day average, .53 in.; total since April 1, 3:30 in.; Normal, April-May, 6.64 in.

CENTRAL DIVISION—Seven-day average, .05; total since April 1, 1.56; Normal, April-May, 5.87.

WESTERN DIVISION—Seven-day average, .04; total since April 1, 2.13; Normal, April-May, 4.92.

render there was no indication Wednesday Belgium had any intention of complying.

LOSSES HEAVY—Admittedly the losses on both sides were heavy. With the battle in the Sedan sector constantly attaining new fury and with Hitler striking with reckless disregard for casualties, human life does not mean much in this vital struggle. Germany claimed the Allies lost 200 planes again Tuesday, bringing the total to 1,400. No specific figures of German losses were released by the Allies, although the British, utilizing every available plane, insisted bombing raids on German lines of communications and troop mobilization's behind the Sedan front had been successful.

SEA LOSSES DENIED—To the German claim of the sinking of two cruisers, one destroyer, one merchant ship of 9,000 tons, and four huge transports by Nazi bombers, the British admiralty flatly avowed: "No British warship has been sunk, set fire, or seriously damaged since the German invasion of the low countries, with the exception of the submarine, Seal."

POLICE QUIET DEMONSTRATORS—In Rome police put the damper on anti-allied demonstrations and the Italian capital was quieter Wednesday. British and French embassies were guarded by troops. The British fleet, according to a Reuters dispatch, put out to sea on the Mediterranean from Alexandria for scheduled maneuvers.

PREPARE FOR RAIDS—The British Isles made ready for anticipated German air raids on British soil. The air ministry Wednesday renewed its call for volunteers, saying there is room for more men. Recruiting for the home defense forces, inaugurated after the developments in Holland and Belgium, reflected a marked increase. From Germany it was said the raids on England will start when Germany is completely ready. German newspapers emphasized that vital English ports, upon which troop and supply movement depended, including Harwich and Flushing, were within easy striking distance.

NEW DEFENSE PROGRAM—In Washington President Roosevelt and General Pershing urged acceptance of the 976 million dollar extraordinary defense program, while congressional leaders promised quick action. One of Lord Beaverbrook's newspapers editorially said that as a result of the German victory in the low countries, Britain ceases to control the Atlantic, the possibility of an invasion of American soil is at hand. "Americans have a period in which to make preparations. They should do so on a scale bigger than anything that has ever been known."

A large and appreciative audience attended the recital given by Orchesis, modern dance group at the University of Nebraska, at the Student Union Tuesday evening. The prorgam represented the culmination of modern dance forms and the various movements were interpreted by Miss Shirley Bennett, coach.

$100 Annual Study Award Given N. U. Architecture Dept.

A $100 annual scholarship has been provided for the N. U. department of architecture by the Nebraska Building chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America. It is the department's first scholarship.

Beginning next fall, the award will be open to ranking junior and senior students who need financial aid. The winner for next fall will be chosen on basis of samples of work and other information. In the future the scholarship committee, which includes O. E. Kingery, Walter F. Wilson, A. H. Brodkey and Prof. B. F. Hemphill may submit a practical problem in design.

"This award is being made available in the interest of better building design and construction and in the interest of better co-operation between the men who design buildings and those who construct them," Mr. Kingery said.

LITTLE SPITFIRE

By Jean Randall

YESTERDAY: Because Brenda is a Burnham, Judge Harper comes to her with a neighborhood problem. Alaine and Abner, the Abernathy twins, have quarreled again and Alaine is planning to elope. Judge Harper wants Brenda's help.

Chapter Nine.

BRENDA BUTTS IN.

In the living room of the Abernathy house a dark young man rose to greet them, his white teeth flashing in a smile.

"I think I'm going to pull it off this time, Judge, in spite of you!"

"I've brought reinforcements," said the Judge coolly. "Brenda, I won't stop to present the enemy to you. You'll find Alaine's room at the right, in front. Go right up, will you, my dear?"

Brenda was divided between laughter and embarrassment as she ran up the stairs. Alaine Abernathy, she judged, was not yet twenty; a mere girl, and yet she was the mistress of her own house; the house into which a stranger was forcing her way.

She rapped gently at a half open door. Alaine called:

"If it's you, Miss Ormond, you might as well go downstairs again. I've made up my mind this time and nobody can stop me."

Brenda walked in. The pretty room looked as if a cyclone had recently had its way with it. Clothes were strewn on chairs and the bed, drawers were open, a desk spilled its letters and stationery onto the floor. And in the midst of the confusion stood Alaine, her dark hair ruffled about her head, her brown eyes gleaming with anger. She was evidently in the act of dressing, for she wore only a silk slip and her stockings.

Brenda said casually: "Your lip rouge isn't on straight. Your mouth is one-sided."

Startled, the girl glanced into the mirror, repaired the damage carelessly. Then she turned on her visitor.

"You're Miss Burnham, aren't you? May I ask——"

"What I'm doing here. Trying to keep you from making a fool of yourself, darling!"

The brown eyes blazed. "I see Judge Harper's fine Italian—not so fine at that! — hand in this. Well, it's no use, my dear Miss Burnham. As you can see, I'm practically packed, and my husband-to-be is downstairs."

Brenda coolly removed a pile of underthings from a chair and seated herself.

"Oh, you're far from being packed. I should think it would take you at least an hour, judging by the way this room looks. While you're about it, suppose you tell me about this man you call your husband-to-be?"

Alaine inquired reasonably: "Why? Why should I? What business is it of yours?"

"Put it down to natural curiosity; or to my being a Burnham," Brenda told her soothingly. "We've got to talk about something; it might as well be Mr. Barton. That's his name?"

The little ruse worked. Alaine said sulkily. "No, Barrow. Edward Barrow, but everybody calls him Ned. He's really swell, Brenda. (I'm going to call you Brenda! If you think you know me well enough to come up here like this, surely I know you well enough to call you by your first name!) I've treated him like a yellow dog, whistling him on and driving him off. But this time he's not going to be driven off. I sent for him, and I'm going to marry him. At the City Hall. Just as soon as I get my things packed. Damn these shoes!"

"Put 'em heel to toe—not both high heels together," Brenda advised. "You shouldn't be putting those shoes in with that chiffon dress anyway. Take 'em out and put 'em in the other bag."

Too Much Bossing.

Alaine obeyed without question.

"Now why," Brenda went on in the same friendly tone, "are you marrying Mr.—er—Barrow?"

"Because ——" the dam burst and the waters of wrath poured out torrentially. "Because Ab Abernathy has no business to say how low my new frock shall be cut! Because I've stood all the bossing from him I'm ever going to! I'll have you know I'm one hour and six minutes older than he is anyway, and if that doesn't give me a right to make decisions about this place I don't know what does! It's a lovely frock, too," she went on, pointing to the crumpled mass from which she had just removed the pair of shoes. "I paid more for it than for any dress I've ever had since I grew up. I showed it to him when it came home, if it comes to that. Was it my fault if he thought the V was in the back instead of the front? And then this noon when I was trying it on —you know the University dance is next week!—of course Ab would have to come marching upstairs and see me!"

She paused, necessarily, for breath. Brenda waited and presently Alaine went on with something resembling genuine relish.

"My dear, there was the father and mother of a row! I thought I knew all the cuss words Ab had at his command but he introduced some really new and interesting ones into his diatribe. . . . That's right, isn't it? Diatribe? Or do I mean dyastole? . . . At any rate, we fought like a pair of Kilkenny cats, and I went down and told Ned if he'd get the license and come for me I'd marry him this afternoon. And I'm going to," she concluded firmly.

Brenda shook her head. "I wouldn't today, if I were you. Your hair needs a wave and your hands are awful. What have you been doing to them?"

Alaine spread her long fingers out and viewed them disgustedly.

"Helping Ab cut back his old peonies on the farm! We've a little country place, you know—or maybe you don't know—and Ab and I are both keen on botany. We use the place to experiment. It's loads of fun. Three years ago we grew some peonies—our own seedlings—and they have to be cut back in the fall. It's death and destruction to one's nails, of course. I intended to get a manicure tomorrow; a manicure and a wave."

"Get it," Brenda advised. "Let me tell your young man that the wedding's postponed until the bride is her usual charming self. You really look like the wrath of God, you know," she continued amicably. "It isn't fair to a husband to enter into marriage with your hair all straggly and your hands like that. A good facial wouldn't hurt you for once, either; though I don't advise them usually for one so young."

"Who are you to be advising at all?" was the pert question. "A beauty expert?"

"Just another girl — and one with eyes in her head." She rose. "Shall I go down and give Mr. Barrow the message?"

"Well, but — but I do suppose there's a limit to what poor Ned will put up with," Alaine remarked slowly. "I imagine he'd rather have me, wave or no wave, than not at all. I . . . I sort of hate to break it to him—this time!"

Brenda' eyes twinkled at the last words; they spoke significantly of former occasions when the patient lover had been turned away.

"Lots Of Money."

"But I'm doing it for you today, and I'm very skillful at it, truly I am! I'll take all the blame myself—he saw me come dashing upstairs so he knows I intended to rescue—I mean to try to persuade you to change—I mean to postpone the wedding. Do let me go down now!" And when Alaine still hesitated, she took the girl by the arm and led her to the mirror. One glance at the dark, disheveled hair, the carelessly applied lip rouge, and the drawn expression of the young face settled the matter.

"All right—go down! But you're to tell him its only postponed! Promise?"

"I promise," Brenda said, and sedately descended the stairs.

Judge Harper, whether from tactfulness or distaste for the whole affair, had taken himself off. Brenda faced Ned Barrow alone.

He opened the conversation without preamble. "Where's Alaine? If you've talked her out of marrying me ——"

Brenda brought out both dimples in her most charming smile.

"Shall we sit down and discuss it for a few minutes? As a matter of fact, I've merely persuaded her to postpone her marriage until tomorrow, I haven't ——"

He interrupted angrily. "That's equivalent to postponing it forever—or at least until she and Ab have another row!"

"But my dear Mr. Barrow"—she leaned forward persuasively —"you wouldn't want to marry Alaine merely on an impulse—her impulse, I mean? Think how resentful she'd be when she got over her fit of anger toward her brother! It's quite on the cards she'd leave you and come home to him."

His young jaw set forcefully. "She wouldn't! I'd see to that!"

Brenda smiled again. "You and Ab! It's your idea a girl like Alaine can be driven, isn't it? Now if you really want to marry her ——"

"I do! My gosh, how I do! Say, listen, Miss Whoeveryou are! If you'll help me win Alaine— and I'll admit to you that all along I've had my doubts about this impulse-of-the-moment marriage —there isn't anything on earth I won't do for you! How about an ermine coat?" he inquired hopefully. "If it came as a gift from both Alaine and me, it wouldn't cause comment. Or a car of your own — specially designed? Just name what you want," he told her largely, "and it'll be yours if you persuade Alaine to marry me."

Brenda viewed him thoughtfully. "I take it you have money? Lots of money?"

"I'm lousy with it," he explained. "My dad couldn't seem to stop making it, once he got started; and when he died four years ago I was the only one he could leave it to. I haven't done so badly with it, at that," he went on modestly. "Is mean—there' been no showgirls in my life—no drinking — no gambling. Maybe it's because I was in love with Alaine even then. I met her when we were both kids out roller skating on the sidewalk," he continued. "I live a couple of blocks back of her, in one of those castle-like affairs you've probably turned up your nose at. She was eleven and what she couldn't do on those skates is nobody's business! I was falling all over myself, and she volunteered to teach me." He grinned at her, and again those remarkably white and even teeth flashed at her. "Love's young dream got under way right then and there. I used to lie awake as much as ten minutes at night, thinking what a swell girl she was. I told her father I was going to marry her when we both grew up, and he seemed to approve of the idea."

Continued tomorrow.

Fred Bucholz, 19, Who Owns Oil Land May Get Rich From Royalties

FALLS CITY, Neb., May 15—(AP)—Frederick Bucholz, 19, of Omaha, may become a very well-to-do young man as a result of the oil discovery here.

Nebraska's newest oil well is on a farm deeded to young Bucholz about three years ago by his uncle, John W. Towle, Omaha steelman.

The well is producing about three hundred barrels of oil a day and young Bucholz's one-eighth royalty, free of all expense, should amount to about eight thousand dollars a year.

As a dozen or more wells might be put down on the farm, the young Omahan's income might get up to 100 thousand dollars a year or more, one oilman estimated.

Bucholz is the son of F. H. Bucholz, treasurer of the Omaha Steel Works.

Auxiliary Officers

The auxiliary to the southeastern district of the Nebraska Optometrists association elected the following officers Monday evening: Mrs. Chauncey M. Smith, Lincoln, president; Mrs. Ethan Adams, Lincoln, vice president; Mrs. Charles Elsner, Crete, secretary-treasurer.

IRIS EXHIBIT WILL BE ONE OF THE FEATURES OF GARDEN CLUB SHOW

One of the larger showings at each exhibit of the Garden Club of Lincoln. Whether it provides fascinating experiments, thrives in our climate, or attracts for its appearance, iris is a blossom particularly popular with Lincoln groups.

Amateur iris hybridizers will have an opportunity to exhibit their own originations at the flower show, to be held May 25 and 26 at the student activities building at the college of agriculture. A special class has been added to the show schedule, for the benefit of those having numbered seedling to exhibit.

A Fascinating Hobby.

Crossing iris is a fascinating hobby, according to the enthusiasts. Miss Marjorie Bernstein has produced some outstanding iris, and Mrs. George wingle, a newcomer in this work, has raised some excellent variations in iris. Dr. Harry Everett has a long career in different and interesting variations of the bearded iris to his credit. Another is Miss Valeria Bonnell, who has some beautiful hybrids from crosses she has made. Many other members of the Garden club have "dabbled a little" in iris hybridization.

Even the junior gardeners have become interested in hybridizing. Young Sandy McNabb has a row of seedling iris raised from crosses made two years ago some of which will bloom this season and Sandy is pretty eager to see what is the result of his labor.

Hints to Exhibitors.

C. C. Wiggans, chairman of the department of horticulture at the university, gives these hints to the iris exhibitors:

1. Cut the iris stem close to the ground early in the morning of the day when the first bud appears ready to open.
2. Strip off a few of the lower leaves but permit several of the upper ones to remain on the stem.
3. Wrap the buds in oil or wax paper, holding it in place with a pin or paper clip.
4. Attach a label giving name of variety and class in which it is to be entered at the flower show.
5. Several stems may be bunched together and taken in a container to the Beatrice Creamery Cold Storage to be held until the night before the show when they should be taken to the show room.
6. Single stem classes require but one stalk but in other cases five or ten stalks of a given sort are needed.
7. In the multiple stem classes an effort should be made to have the stems of uniform length and stage of development with approximately the same number of blossom buds on each stem.

It is not news that the lilacs are markedly beautiful this year. Mrs. Henry Branch, jr., urges all who have outstanding lilacs to put them in storage for the great days, so that all may enjoy them. "After all," Mrs. Branch suggests, "the real purpose of the flower show is to share the garden flowers which give you pleasure with others who love the blossoms."

There's a thrill in a ribbon, blue, red, or white, and viewers sometimes remark they have superior blooms at home. The idea is to bring those flowers to the display, to add to its inspiration and delight.

Farm Hand Run Over By Disc

. . . Injury Not Serious

Tractor Travels 200 Feet After Accident Before Stopping In Ditch

Virgil Adams, 35, farm hand, suffered painful head injuries when he fell from a tractor, partly in the path of a disc being towed behind the machine, at the farm of Neil E. Foreman, Route 8, Wednesday morning. He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth hospital where he was attended by Dr. K. S. J. Hohlen.

Hospital attendants said Adams was released after being treated. It was learned from ambulance attaches that the disc may have passed over one side of Adams' head as the man suffered deep cuts through his hair and on the side of his head.

Adams was found lying unconscious in the wield in which he was working by a passing motorist, who summoned aid at the Foreman farm. The tractor continued on for approximately 200 feet from the scene of the accident before coming to a halt in a ditch. After reganiing consciousness, Adams was unable to explain what had happened. The Foreman farm is located east of College View.

(By the Associated Press.)

West Virginia's "baby senator" of 1934, Rush D. Holt, trailed two opponents today in returns from yesterday's democratic primary, while in Ohio voters decided to make their senatorial choice in November between Mayor Harold Burton of Cleveland, republican, and John McSweeney, democrat and former representative.

In Ohio, where President Roosevelt and Senator Taft were picking up without opposition the state's delegations to the democratic and republican conventions, incomplete returns indicated that the republicans outpolled democrats.

Highlights of Voting.

There were these highlights:

West Virginia: Judge Harley Kilgore went into the lead for the democratic senatorial nomination former Gov. H. G. Kump was second and Senator Holt, new deal critic, was a definite third. Senator M. M. Neely captured the nomination handily.

Ohio: Burton, after a ding-dong fight with Congressman Dudley A. White, appeared headed for a 50,000 majority in the republican senatorial primary. McSweeney bested Herbert Bigelow, pension advocate, in winning the democratic nomination to fill the place of retiring Senator Vic Donahey, democrat. The state's gubernatorial choices were John W. Bricker, republican incumbent, and former Governor Martin L. Davey, democrat.

The West Virginia vote in 1,040 of a total of 2,379 precincts gave: Kilgore, 54,463; Kump, 48,340; and Holt, 37,352.

Andrews Nominated.

Neely's opponent was State Chairman R. Carl Andrews, who trailed in 1,185 precincts by 90,930 to 67,398. Neely was aligned with Kilgore in opposition to the Andrews-Kump-Gov. Homer A. Holt group.

In the West Virginia republican primary, State Senator Thomas B. Sweeney, was well ahead in a field of four for United States senator and Mayor D. Lawson Boone of Charleston had a long lead for the party's gubernatorial nomination.

Each major party chose 16 uninstructed delegates to the national conventions. Neely, who favors a third term for Mr. Roosevelt, led the democratic ticket.

In Ohio the 52 democratic national convention votes nominally were pledged to National Committeeman Charles Sawyer, but he is a third term supporter and the delegation will be for Mr. Roosevelt if he runs.

Davey's political resurgence came in his race against six other would-be democratic nominees for governor. Davey, who lost a similar primary in 1938 during a quarrel with the Roosevelt administration over his handling of pensions, polled 222,671 votes in 6,812 precincts out of the state's 8,624. His nearest competitor was former Gov. George White, with 94,037.

Gov. Bricker had no opposition for the republican nomination.

In the democratic senatorial race, 7,356 precincts gave McSweeney 187,668 to 116,274 for Bigelow. On the republican ticket for senator, Mayor Burton counted 240,117 votes in 7,356 precincts, to 198,596 for White.

5 Ordered Not To Start Work On Apartments

. . . Due to New City Law

Notices that they must not start construction of 4-family apartments for which permits have been issued, was sent Wednesday to five persons by E. A. Vorhees, building inspector. The notices, he said, have been given in conformity with an amendment to the zoning laws passed by the city council Monday with the emergency clause attached.

The owners and properties involved have permits for four apartments:

Dr. Harry Gradwohl, 1340-44 South Twentieth street.

Forrest K. Schappaugh, 1524-30 Burr street.

J. E. Dean, 2040 South Twentieth street.

For 3-family structures:

John S. Jones, 3101 South Sixteenth street.

J. H. Linscott, 2800 South Nineteenth street.

The permit for this latter building was issued on April 19. The others were issued since.

ROGER'S CLOSE

Some of you probably will read the closing installment of Roger's letter with sincere regret — because, as a correspondent, Roger is very lax, and the chances are it will be quite some time before he breaks down and sends along another letter—But at least we have had this one—and here is the end of it:

"On the last day of April, the day workmen began wrecking the Liberty theater, I strolled in to take one last look at the familiar interior, beautiful even in the process of despoliation. The curtains had been removed from the boxes and some of the seats from the first floor; otherwise the fine interior was intact, and what a flood of memories came to me! Memories of days when a small child back in the nineties my parents used to take me there to see Uncle Tom's Cabin; to thrill when Eliza and her child escaped across the frozen river from the pursuing blood hounds, to sorrow at the death of little Eva and to be filled with horror and indignation when the cruel slave trader Simon Legree lashed poor, old Uncle Tom to death in the closing scene just before little Eva surrounded by a host of angels all bathed in the ruddy glow of red calcium fire burst into view amid the upper part of the scenery; memories of my high school days when I had a crush on first one fair damsel after another whom I used to escort to the shows and then never married any of them, all of whom have long since drifted out of my life and gone their respective ways and been lost track of if not forgotten; memories of later years when speakers from its stage urged the purchase of Liberty Bonds during the World War of a quarter of a century ago; memories of gay theater parties and friends long scattered to the four corners of the earth and some to the great beyond; memories of Billy Quick, capable orchestra leader, who died just the other day and of the late Dr. Fletcher Wharton, Methodist minister, greatly admired by Lincoln people of all denominations and even by those of no church affiliation, for his kindliness and sincerity who used to preach from its stage Sunday mornings and evenings after St. Paul church was destroyed by fire shortly after the turn of the century and while the present edifice was being built; memories of stars that once twinkled brightly in the theatrical firmament and then grew dim. Of William Faversham who died a few weeks ago in a rooming house in suburban New York City and of Mrs. Patrick Campbell who followed him in death about a week later in a remote town in France. It was an exceedingly fashionable audience that greeted her at the old Oliver one winter night back about 1902 and as I looked for the last time upon this exquisitely lovely creation of an earlier day, soon to become but a memory, I wished that such things could not be.

CREOLE CHARM

Much of the great charm of New Orleans lays in its famed Creole quarter with its old houses all covered with iron lace work after the fashion of Seventeenth Century France, the quaint courtyards with their fountains and flowers and cages of warbling birds, the multitude of interesting little shops that line the winding, narrow streets, there too are the lovely old restaurants that were founded 150 to 200 years ago with their incomparable food, the joy of epicures the world over. American New Orleans with its great skyscrapers, magnificent hotels, stores and theaters is as modern as tomorrow but the city has had the good sense to preserve much of the old Spanish and French quarter intact and it has paid dividends, for tens of thousands of tourists flock to the metropolis of the Southland every year just to see the Vieux Carre where the language and customs of vanished centuries linger just as many Americans once travelled to Europe whose scenery in many instances is inferior to that of their own country, just to view places of historical and romantic interest, for after all, "The Beautiful Blue Danube" of song and story is a roiley, turbid stream as muddy as our own Missouri and the famed Rhine is no more beautiful than the Hudson and is chiefly interesting for ruins of the old castles along its banks.

The passing of the Liberty leaves the beautiful playhouse at Kearney, which several correspondents have mentioned, one of the best examples of the road show type of theater in the state. Five stories high, one story higher than the Liberty, with a central tower or cupola and about a decade older than our theater, standing a block beyond the depot it looms up above all the other buildings on Central avenue, the main business street of Kearney, a splendid specimen of the grandiose type of architecture of its day but long disused. Time was when Kearney had hopes of becoming a second Chicago; had cotton mills and even boasted street cars but the prosperity bubble burst long ago and Kearney settled down to being a staid, peaceful, prairie, county-seat town. I was there some time ago and had a chance to view the beautiful old playhouse where seats once sold from $2.50 to $5 apiece and which cleared $1,500 a month for its owners in its hey day. It was once illuminated by gas lights and later electric fixtures were installed so you see how old it is. Birds of the air have entered from broken windows in the rear and pigeons roost amid the faded filigree of the governor's box while backstage the maze of lines still hanging from the catwalks above attest the opulence of the stage shows long ago presented there.

ANNA HELD

More than twenty-five years ago when Anna Held was a good .05c cigar as well as a musical comedy queen; when to have read that best seller: "The Second Blooming" was regarded as a bit of cultural finesse by the intelligentsia—county seat town intelligensia at least; when Woman's Suffrage was a red hot topic, some people sure it would lead us straight to the pearly gates while others were equally sanguine it would plunge us into the deepest pit of "That Other Place," where as happily we have attained neither realm and have jogged along about as usual; when the evil policy of Phohibition was beginning to cast its sinister shadow over the nation; when hundreds of thousands of our soldier boys were marching away to the "War to end war," (Life's little jokes to say nothing of their big tragedies) the old Liberty was going strong.

April showers and May sunshine; springtime, season of awakening life. Time of violates and their close of kin in beauty: pansies. "Pansies for thoughts" wrote the world's greatest dramatist William Shakespear, long centuries ago. Lovers of the drama, not only in Lincoln, but all over Nebraska and the middle west, who knew the old Liberty Theater and spent many happy hours within its walls have their thoughts and their memories. Many of them, mentally at least, will place pansies upon its ruins. —ROGER.

Italian Throng Is Dispersed

. . . Demonstration Halted

Police Action Is Seen As Damper On Anti-Allied Manifestations

ROME, May 15—(AP)—Police dispersed nearly 10,000 persons—mostly students—who gathered in various parts of Rome today with the intention of launching a third day of anti-allied demonstrations at the Piazza Venezia.

Foreign observers interpreted the action as placing an official damper on the manifestations, which diplomatic circles have feared might result in repercussions which would push Italy into the war.

New posters, however, were plastered up on buildings near the French embassy quoting an old editorial in Premier Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia, which recalled that Germany supported Italy during the Ethiopian war while France and Britain opposed her.

Would Widen Water Belt.

Meanwhile, a new law was introduced in the fascist chamber which would increase from six to 12 miles the belt of territorial waters around the Italian coast.

It was said that this change corresponded with the width of British and French territorial waters.

Troops continued to guard the British and French embassies, focal point of former demonstrations. Mention of the demonstrations was lacking from the morning newspapers.

Americans Seek Passage.

Apparently, however, the displays have served the purpose of driving to cover any Italians who might have anti-German or pro-allied leanings.

Ettore Muti, secretary of the fascist party, ordered provincial secretaries to appoint before May 20 substitutes who could take over their duties in case they were called to arms.

Americans who, alarmed by events, attempted tardily to buy passage home on the United States liner Washington found every available space—including the lounges—reserved, mostly by compatriots fleeing from Holland and Belgium. The Washington is scheduled to sail from Genoa May 18.

HOOVER TO HEAD BELGIAN RELIEF

. . . As He Did Last War

NEW YORK, May 15—(AP)—Charles Hallaert, Belgian consul general, announced today that former President Herbert Hoover has agreed to head a Belgium relief commission.

Hoover organized a similar commission during the last war.

A spokesman for Hoover said the former president had no comment to make at present concerning the commission or its work.

DUTCH ARMY SURRENDERS TO GERMANS

Overwhelmed By Invaders

Way Open to Occupation Of Entire Nation Except Zeeland; Cities Faced With Destruction

AMSTERDAM, May 15—(AP)—The Netherlands opened the way today for unopposed German occupation of all but one of her eleven provinces.

Under orders from Gen. Henri Gerard Winkelman, the commander-in-chief, the Dutch last night laid down their arms everywhere but in Zeeland, low-lying island province in the southwest which has, in the port of Vlissingen (Flushing), one of the main points of sea traffic with England.

(Observers in Berlin expected that Dutch resistance in Zeeland and by scattered units elsewhere would be overcome in a day or two at most.)

There was nothing else the Dutch could do after five days of stubborn but foredoomed defense. So the surrender was ordered by the 64-year-old commander, highest government representative since the flight of the queen and the government to England two days ago.

Unequal to Task.

The Netherlands army was unequal to the task of fighting off Germany's high-geared, up-to-the-minute war machine. Her air force was not strong enough to give the troops effective aid. Her defenses had been pierced and outflanked by the lightning German columns. Rotterdam and Utrecht, two of her four largest cities, were in imminent danger of complete destruction.

In view of those circumstances and in the hope of saving "at least a small part of our beautiful country" and preventing further bloodshed, Gen. Winkelman ordered his forces to cease firing, and commanded the troops and the people to co-operate in the preservation of order "until the arrival of the German regular troops."

From London Queen Wilhelmina sent a proclamation that "The Netherlands will one day, with the help of God, rewin its whole European territory."

Cities Faces Destruction.

But today all but a small segment of those 12,700 square miles of territory was in the hands of the invaders, who merely were delayed briefly in their advance by the flood-water defenses with which the Netherlands had hoped to guard the rough rectangle enclosing the cities of Amsterdam, Rotterdam, The Hague and Utrecht.

The German armored column that had smashed through the southern defenses already was in Rotterdam, and the seaport was being subjected to aerial bombardment that set large sections of the city afire.

Utrecht, Amsterdam and The Hague were the targets of other marching columns.

With the Netherlands home land now under German domination, Queen Wilhelmina and her government in London will continue to rule over Holland's overseas possessions—about 790,000 square miles inhabited by more than 70,000,000 persons on two sides of the earth.

GEN. WINKELMAN....orders surrender

Frey Convicted, Smith Freed In Counterfeit Case

Bryant C. Frey was found guilty by a Federal court jury of possession of counterfeit coins, after trial Tuesday. The jury came in late in the evening.

Frey was indicted with Harry Franklin Smith on a charge of possession and passing counterfeit quarters in York, March 16, at the James Andreas cigar store.

Smith was freed when Judge Munger directed a verdict in his behalf. The court said there was no evidence to show that Smith knew the coin was counterfeit.

Sentence was deferred, and Frey was returned to the city jail. Smith, at his own request, also returned there. He told the U. S. marshal he was cold and broke, and wanted a place to stay overnight.

The jury decided that Frey was guilty of possession of the coins, but not guilty of the passing. Testimony showed that Smith actually passed the coins.

The salary of the Prime Minister of Great Britain is 10,000 pounds (about $35,000 at present rates of exchange) per year.

World Troubles Basically Due to Lack of Religion

. . . Rev. Conway Says

St. Mary's President, Bishop Kucera Address Catholic Women

The troubles of the modern world are basically religious and will be solved only when the world, in its madness, stops and listens to the voice of God, said the Very Rev. Daniel H. Conway president of St. Mary's (Kas.) Theological Seminary, addressing the seventh annual convention banquet of the Lincoln Diocesan Council of the National Council of the Catholic Women. The banquet held Tuesday night at the Lincoln hotel was attended by 125.

"All the problems of the modern State," he said, "in the end come down to this: where does it get its right to govern? The American theory, as set forth in the Declaration of Independence, holds that the authority of the state is the authority of the multitude, which in turn transfers that authority to the ruler or government; while the multitude before it made the transfer, had its authority from God as a matter of natural law. It is clear then that the ultimate problem is a religious one. . . .

"Any more purely human explanation of the state's authority inevitably leads to some kind of a totalitarian tyranny as we see exemplified so graphically in Germany and Russia and Mexico today.

The One Voice.

"Hence the troubles of the modern world are basically religious and then only will they be solved when the world in its madness stops and listens to the One Voice in the world today lifted above the seethings found in the passions of hate and greed and cruelty and asking mankind to recognize in their fellow men brothers who bear the image of God and to whom God has given inalienable rights which they are bound to respect even though they be stronger brothers who their Elder Brother Jesus Christ so loved as to give His life for their redemption."

"If you do not believe that we have a Creator, or that we have no rights with which we were endowed by that Creator and not by society, that no man or group of men can take these rights away from us since they have a Divine origin, then you have undermined not merely the fundamental principle on which our American system and every just system is based, but you have placed yourself under the worst form of tyranny, a government of men with the most absolute powers. Hence it is difficult to see how one can be a good American and deny God."

Good Leaders Needed.

Bishop Louis B. Kucera, who also spoke, declared that "never before was there greater need of competent leadership, reliable and just, than there is in our day. Not only is the world morally sick, it is mentally unbalanced. No stronger proof of this fact can be adduced than that millions of men with every reason and every possibility of being happy, and every desire to be at peace are actually and grimly calculating to destroy one another and, incidentally, to destroy themselves.

"The peace for which the world moans can be effected only when power is ordered by wisdom and exercised in charity. An exposition of truth necessarily entails the exposition of errors and the confutation of false teachings and false principles. Here we have stated tersely a great truth; you must know a problem accurately before you can solve it. Our progress would be greater if we spent more time on finding facts in our problems than we do in theorizing on them."

Essay Prizes.

Bishop Kucera awarded prizes in the essay contest, as follows: Mrs. John M. Klehn, Moorefield, Neb., first; Miss Marguerite Barry, St. Ursula's school, York, second; and Thomas A. Rauth, also of the St. Ursula's school, third.

Msgr. C. J. Riordan spoke briefly at the program. Music was furnished by Louis Demma and a string trio, composed of Edith Owen, Hilda Chowins, and Willa Given.

NORTH WESTERN WINS RAILROAD EMPLOYES '39 SAFETY AWARD

CHICAGO, May 15 — (AP)—The Chicago and North Western railway, with 3.53 accidental deaths or injuries for every 1,000,000 man hours of employment in 1939, won the top division award in the 13th annual railroad employes national safety contest Wednesday.

The Union Pacific's rate of 2.57 was lower than the North Western's, in the 50,000,000 or more man-hour group but contest rules prevent a road from winning a group award two consecutive years. The Union Pacific won in 1938.

By DON KELLOGG.

A barrage of 26 hits landed in all corners of the university field Tuesday afternoon as Iowa State had a field day in turning in a 24 to 8 Big Six baseball triumph over Nebraska. It was the fourth straight Cyclone win over the Huskers this year.

Today, Coaches Knight and A. J. Lewandowski headed the squad to the south, where Nebraska meets Oklahoma A. & M. Thursday and then Oklahoma, the 1940 Big Six champions, at Norman Friday and Saturday. The Tuesday score:

Big Six Chatter.

By HAROLD CLAASSEN.

DRAKE is looking with both eyes at Jack Matthews, assistant track coach at Missouri...Pitch Johnson, present mentor there, takes over the chair of cinderology at Stanford, come September...Kansas State and Missouri golfers duel on Nebraska's links Friday...Saturday, the Big Six title will be decided over the same course.

BILL HARGISS was so close to getting that Colorado football coaching job he spent a day hunting packing boxes... Only when a Colorado regent, who also is a member of the legislature, hinted that certain appropriations might be lost if the school had two paid football coaches, were negotiations stopped...Colorado gave Bunny Oakes a reported $7,500 for his long term contract...They then approached Hargiss...The job finally was combined with the track duties and Frank Potts put at the helm.

Norfolk, Va., in the Piedmont league is relying on a former Big Six battery...Charley Mason, once a Missourian, is the pitcher, and Ferrell Anderson, ex-Kansan, the catcher...Harold Keith, walking almanac of Sooner athletics, is authoring a book on sports for boys.

CROP ROOKIES BEST IN YEARS

Ranks of Major Leagues Well Splashed With New Talent.

By TOM SILER.

CHICAGO, May 15 — (AP) — It's never too late to send a rookie back to the bushes, but an almost unprecedented number of them have made the major league grade this season on the basis of the first month's play. All of the clubs were down to 25 players today, but many freshman players survived roster reductions all along the line.

Cleveland's Classy Pair.

Thirteen of the 16 big league clubs have at least one rookie playing regularly and six clubs have two yearlings in the starting lineup, exclusive of pitchers. A few of these spent the tail-end of last season in the majors, but did not clinch their jobs until this year. Many others, of course, are still up, but haven't played much yet.

Cleveland has a classy keystone pair in Shortstop Lou Boudreau and Second-baseman Ray Mack. Many baseball observers say this pair has "made" the Indians into a real pennant threat. Connie Mack came up with a pair of prize infielders, too—Second-baseman Benny McCoy, an expensive acquisition who played briefly for Detroit last summer, and Third-baseman Al Rubeling.

Browns Bag Good Ones.

Outfielder Walter Judnich and Catcher Bob Swift earned varsity positions with the St. Louis Browns in short order, Swift being the only rookie in a regular backstopping job. The Chicago White Sox started with Bob Kennedy at third and have no regrets, and Jim Pofahl has been delivering at shortstop for Washington.

The Red Sox opened with Dominic DiMaggio in the outfield, but Lou Finney ousted him by a red-hot hitting streak.

The outstanding rookie in the National league at this early date is 20-year-old Frank Gustine, smooth-fielding second-baseman with Pittsburgh. He is batting a sensational .383, tops for the loop. Gustine's teammates, Outfielders Van Robays and Bob Elliott, have seen service, but have not earned regular jobs.

Delivers For Giants.

The New York Giants have First-baseman Babe Young in the lineup daily and either Nick Witek or Al Glossop, both rookies, on second. John Rucker started the season in the outfield, but has since been benched.

Brooklyn's flaming Dodgers are bolstered by Outfielder Charles Gilbert, with occasional aid from Shortstop Pewee Reese and Catcher Herman Franks. Cincinnati plugged its left field gap with Rookie Mike McCormick and Martin Marion was sparkling at short for St. Louis until an injury felled him.

Chet Ross has filled the bill so far in Boston Bees' outfield, while Bill Rowell is the regular second-baseman. The Phillies have perked up with rookie regulars at first and shortstop—Art Mahan and Bob Bragan. Dominic Dallessandro has been on a part-time basis in the Chicago Cubs' outfield and Bobby Mattick, who broke in late last season, has moved in at shortstop.

GAMES THIS WEEK.

Wednesday and Thursday—Kansas at Kansas State.
Friday and Saturday—Uebraska at Oklahoma.

KANSAS CITY, May 15—(AP)—Oklahoma's baseball team, so professional in action that the players gnaw on chewing tobacco, has romped off with the Big Six title for the second straight year.

The Sooners enter their final series against Nebraska this week-end with only one league defeat—a surprise 4-3 setback by Missouri yesterday .

Big gun of their attack is Herb Scheffler, umpire-baiting first-baseman. Their defensive genius is Sam Blackwell, a shortstop in whom Brooklyn of the National league is supposed to have shown interest.

In addition to the Sooner-Husker combats, Kansas and Kansas State tangle in a pair of games at Manhattan today and Thursday. The teams broke even in a similar engagement at Lawrence early in the year for the Jayhawkers' lone victory. Two triumphs would virtually assure the surprising Wildcats runner-up honors.

Dodgers Grab Lead By Downing Reds In 13-Inning Battle

Durocher Club Again Fronts Flag Chase In National.

By PAT ROBINSON.

NEW YORK, May 15—(INS)—If a flaming, fighting spirit that acknowledges no master was enough to win a pennant, we could wrap up the National league flag without further ado and hand it to the Dashing Dodgers.

Neither the old Orioles of John McGraw's time, the Cubs of Frank Chance's day nor the Cardinals of Frankie Frisch's regime had anything on Leo Durocher's current band of fire-eaters so far as spirit is concerned.

Dodgers Ahead In Thirteenth.

The Dodgers had to travel 13 heats yesterday to beat Cincinnati. Bucky Walters and Tex (No-Hit) Carleton hooked up in a corking pitching duel until both made way for pinch-hitters and the Dodgers would have handed Bucky his first defeat were it not for two errors by Pete Coscarart.

After the Reds moved ahead on Mike McCormick's homer off Newt Kimball in the tenth, the Dodgers came right back and tied it up after two were out. Toots Pressnell then came on to stop the Reds cold and the Dodgers battled on until a pass, Durocher's hit and a fly put over the run that gave them a 6-5 decision and first place in the National league.

Pirates Plaster Giants.

Elbie Fletcher's homer with three Pirates aboard put the skids under Cliff Melton and the Giants, 7-2, and Hugh Mulcahy of the Phillies handed the Cardinals a neat 4 to 0 plastering. The victory put the Phils up directly in back of the Cubs who were rained out in Boston.

Jimmy Foxx's second home run of the game in the tenth—and his eighth of the season—gave the Red Sox a 7-6 decision over the White Sox.

The Red Sox thus picked up another game on the Indians, who were knocked off by the jubilant Athletics, 9 to 7. Young Bob (No-Hit) Feller took an unmerciful pounding before he was driven to the showers.

The Seniors downed the Tigers, 4-2, and the Yanks and Browns were idle in St. Louis.

OVER THE STATE

by ALEX STODDARD

NEXT Saturday afternoon, in Sioux City, Ia., the high school athletic career of Howard Debus, crack Lincoln high sports performer, will come to a close ...At that time Lincoln will be defending its Missouri Valley conference track and field title and Debus is expected to establish four new meet records . . . He already owns the javelin and discus marks, and should boost them at Sioux City, while his 12-8 pole vault last week would indicate that the old standard of 11-9½ will go by the boards, as well as the shot mark of 50-10¼...Debus has consistently been over 51 feet with the 12-pound ball.

HOWARD DEBUS.

PASSING of Debus will cause mixed emotions...The Lincoln high coaches, athletes and followers will feel the loss of one of the finest competitors in the history of the Red and Black school... Elsewhere, there's going to be considerable relief shown by coaches and others who have been called upon to attempt to beat the 190-odd pound Lincoln ace...A crack footballer and field competitor, Debus also lettered once on the basketball squad and could have held down an outfield berth with the L. H. S. baseball team had he not been so busy breaking shot, discus, javelin and pole vault records.

FROM McCook comes word that Ki Eisenhart, McCook junior college athlete who prepped at Cambridge, will enroll at the University of Nebraska next autumn ...Eisenhart is another all-around athlete of the Debus type, who has made a name for himself in southwest circles and could be a valuable addition to the 1942 Cornhusker track team.

DIAMOND dust: Johnny Miller, ace hurler with Lincoln's Western league Links last year, is working well with Chattanooga in the Southern Association this year, with a record of three wins and two losses with a club which yet hasn't reached the .500 percentage in team standings...Eddie Jeselnik is in the outfield with Salina in the Western Association, Nick Gregory is patrolling an outfield territory for Tyler in the East Texas league, Marion DeJarnett is with unbeaten Springfield in the Three-I circuit and Ted Kakoliris is outfielding for Decatur in the same loop... Hower, former Norfolk catcher, is with Akron of the Mid-Atlantic league, a Yankee farm; Pete Filbert, former Lincoln sandlotter, recently drew his release from Yakima of the Western International league, and Dusty Boggess, the over-size Texan who was the most popular umpire in the Western league last year, is calling 'em in the Texas league this season.

HODGE-PODGE: Axtell and Minden went 16 innings to a tie Sunday, Axtell scoring three runs in the first inning and Minden getting a cluster of three later in the game . . . Lawrence outscored Red Cloud, 21-13, in a game which produced 36 hits and 11 errors . . . The Interstate high school conference track meet was on the Wednesday book, at Thomas Jefferson of Council Bluffs... Heinie Brehm, the Greenwood tavern-keeper who is a big-wig of the Twin Valleys league, advises baseball fans of the Capital City area to attend Twin Valleys games on Sundays, inasmuch as there's no baseball in Lincoln...Brehm is loud in his praise of the caliber of baseball played by Twin Valleys teams.

Stock Prices Mixed; War Shares Hold Gains

Trading Follows Up and Down Pace

NEW YORK, May 15—(AP)—The stock market swung up and down like a roller-coaster today in the most active dealings since the first flush of the war-boom last September.

Transfers approximated 4,000,000 shares, almost half a million more than Tuesday's boiling decline.

The close was mixed, with steel, motor and aircraft shares holding gains, while leaders in many other departments ended unchanged or lower.

A last hour selling wave put the tape behind for the second time during the session, and abrupt opening decline had been checked by a quick selling drive that left many floor traders gasping at the suddenness of the turn.

The fall in stocks coincided with a late demoralization in wheat prices at Chicago, with quotations down the 10-cent price limit in some deliveries. Corn ended 2⅜ to 3½ cents a bushel lower.

Up fractions to 3 points or so were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Douglas, Glenn Martin, Lockheed, General Electric and American Airlines. DuPont gained about 5.

Lower by a few cents to as much as 5 points were other leaders, including J. I. Case, Eastman, Southern Railway, Kennecott, Anaconda, Montgomery Ward, Western Union and American Smelting.

Sherwin Williams and Montgomery Ward "A" were wide losers in the curb, but Aluminum of America held the better part of a gain that ran to nearly 13 points at one time.

The pound sterling in mid-afternoon was up 7 cents, holding to the higher course it set from the start. The bond market was generally easier than stocks, but had its strong points. German bonds were higher, but most foreign loans were heavy.

The morning about-face was one of the most rapid shifts in market currents Wall Street has seen in many months.

DuPont, down nearly 2 points at the opening swung to a gain of 6 in a few minutes. The buying orders were so numerous and offers so few in Bethlehem Steel that trading in those shares was suspended for several minutes, and the services of a governor of the exchange to get matters straightened out.

Wheat dealings in the Chicago pit showed nearly as abrupt a reversal. Off as much as 8 cents a bushel at the start, within a matter of minutes it had cut the drop more than half.

The first hour dealings in stocks, more than 1,500,000 shares, was the largest since September 5, and the ticker tape lagged as much as eight minutes behind transactions on the floor.

With war tidings overshadowing every other consideration, brokers' advices to their clients varied widely. Different in tone from many was this, from one of the largest Wall Street commission houses:

"If history is of any use whatever as a guide, it would appear that the power and stamina of the allied resistance are being unduly underestimated. We have no intention of stimulating either false hopes or false fears, but it does appear to us fairly obvious that, thus far, the market has been dismissing out of hand all but the worst expectations. It is now more than ever necessary for security holders to bewtre of the mass psychology which, in the past two or three sessions, has all been running headlong in one direction."

While reasoning of this sort, brokers said, had undoubtedly played a part in the boiling rebound, many thought the "technical" situation, caused by the wave of selling in recent days, had made the market ripe for an upturn.

Second 10-Cent Drop Hits Wheat

CHICAGO, Ill., May 15—(AP)—Wheat prices collapsed again today, dropping 10 cents a bushel for the second consecutive session, as traders dumped millions of bushels of grain because of the pessimistic war news coming from Europe.

Prices closed as low as trading rules would permit in today's session and were the lowest since early last winter.

The market had shown some signs of rallying earlier in the session out renewed selling in the final hour caught the pit without support. Wheat finished 9¾ to 10 cents lower than yesterday, May 85¾@86c, July 85⅝@⅞c.

Corn closed 1⅝ to 3½ cents lower, May 59⅛@59c, July 59⅜@⅛c; oats ⅝ cent lower to ¾ cent higher; soy beans 2¾ to 3¼ cents off; rye 8⅞ to 9½ cents down and lard 7 to 15 cents lower.

The worst wheat price break since collapse of the market in 1933 continued today as values toppled as much as 5½ to 8⅝ cents early today.

Heavy liquidation of impaired margin accounts as a result of yesterday's 10 cent price decline caused an immediate further setback when trading opened today. However, as soon as this depressed selling had been obsorbed, prices rallied sharply, recovering at times all but about 1½ cents of the initial loss. May wheat, which led the recovery, sold as much as 1¼c above the previous close at one time.

News of the progress of war constituted the principal weakening factor with most dealers hastening to even up accounts which had been opened the past few months on the prospects of a long drawn out conflict. While there was no thought of gauging the extent or duration of hostilities, many traders took the cue from failure of foreign demand for grains to expand thus far and went out of their holdings for the time being.

Wheat, priced the lowest since early last December, has lost more than 20 cents a bushel since the establishment of three-year peaks in April.

Much of the support that appeared in the pit at times came from commercial interests and millers, suggesting very heavy flour business as a result of the price break. Shippers sold 91,000 bushels of wheat to outside mills in the first hour on top of sales of almost 200,000 bushels yesterday. Export sales of 2,500,000 bushels of Canadian wheat also were reported.

Rye tumbled almost 8 cents with wheat, but then recovered more than half of the loss. Corn and oats, however, showed only moderate weakness with corn off 1 to 2⅝ and oats 1 to 1⅜. After the first hour oats prices showed strong rallying power. The price break served to check country offerings in corn and receipts here today totaled only 37 cars.

Lard slumped in early dealings with grain. Losing as much as 25 cents, but then rallied sharply and pushed slightly above previous closing levels at times.

New contract: Close, May 9.82n; July, 9.47; Oct., 8.99@9.00; Dec., 8.87 Jan., 8.81 March 8.71.

SUPREME COURT

New Cases.

BUFFALO COUNTY—John P. Heileberg, an architect, asked the court Wednesday to reverse a District court decision denying him an $1,800 judgment he sought against the city of Kearney for preparing preliminary plans for a new city hall. The city successfully defended against the claim in the lower court on the ground Helleberg's fees were to be allowed only in event bonds for the hall were voted. The proposed bonds were not approved at the eection.

DOUGLAS—Lorena Katz, and others holding an interest in Omaha property now being operated as a rooming house, appealed to the court from a District court decision directing Martha Young, tenant-operator, to pay the $140 per month rent for the house to the Penn Mutual Life Insprance company during the process of foreclosire.

Rehearing Asked.

CUMING — Earl Conrad, Lucky Yager Conrad and Joseph A. Yager, partners in a seed business, urged the court Wednesday to reconsider dismissal of their suit brought to enjoin William C. Kaup from participating in a business similar to theirs in their trade territory. The court recently dismissed the ctse with the observation that a contract under which the action was brought had expired before the case came up for decision. Attorneys for the partners protested the question before the court was the validity of the contract. In view of the decision, they indicated, their way for a damage action is blocked.

MOBILIZATION COMPLETE IN SWITZERLAND

. . . Frontier Manned

BERN, Switzerland, May 15—(AP)—Switzerland's mobilization is complete and "all the troops occupy the positions which have been assigned to them," the federal council and high command announced in a joint communique today.

"These positions, on all our frontiers, are held by powerful armed forces," the communique added.

(This means that the forts on the Italian frontier, which until the recent intensification of the crisis had only a skeleton guard, are fully manned.)

"Also in the interior of the country large forces assure the security of the country."

The forces referred to include not only the army, but anti-aircraft defense units. These units have been turned into "home defense corps" in which are enrolled all women and men too old or otherwise unfit for military service, but who can fire a rifle.

Foreign observers estimate the regular army at 600,000 men, the home guards at 200,000.

Mrs. John Fuller, 83, Passes Away Here

Mrs. T. C. Moyer's Mother Was Oldest Member Of Omaha First Baptist Church

Mrs. John A. Fuller, 83, a resident of Omaha for 55 years, died Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Torrence C. Moyer, 2700 Stratford, where she had been making her home since last September.

Born in Massachusetts, Mrs. Fuller was the widow of John A. Fuller, early Omaha druggist and for nine years associated with the Standard Oil company. Mr. Fuller died in 1917. Mrs. Fuller was the oldest member of the First Baptist church of Omaha.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Moyer; three sons, Dr. John A. of Reno, George C. of Dallas, and Richard H. of New York City; five grandchildren; and one great grandchild.

Yeager Warns Against U. S. Taking Sides

. . . IN EUROPE'S WAR

Governor Cochran Praises K. P. Teachings At Annual Banquet

Warning against "sinister influences" and "misunderstandings," Judge John W. Yeager of Omaha, urged 120 persons attending the annual banquet of the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters Tuesday night at the Lincoln hotel to stand aloof from forces which are attempting to influence the United States to "take sides" in the foreign war.

Declaring that we were drawn into the last World war through "misunderstandings" and "a lack of understanding ourselves," he said, "There was never a time in the history of the world when the purpose of the American people should be more militantly behind the principles of Americanism than they are today."

Governor R. L. Cochran and Harry Simon of Winside, past supreme representative of the lodge, also spoke at the program which was held in connection with the seventy-fifth annual meeting of the lodge and the state meeting of the Pythian Sisters. Charles Smrha was toastmaster.

Teachings Praised.

The governor offered praise for the teachings of the lodge, declaring that "a Pythian doesn't look for faults but rather for virtues. The real spirit of brotherhood exists where we appraise and value the virtues of the individual. To keep our pledge," he added, 'is a vow we may well have in mind all of the time."

Governor Cochran said that progress comes in this country because of the combined efforts of men, working together in a common cause — the rights and freedom of democracy and freedom of worship.

The history of the Knights of Pythias was traced by Mr. Simon, who asserted that "This order has always stood for what is right and true and for the best interests of the people." The fraternalism, which is the fundamental principle upon which the order is based, provided a challenge of friendship and spirit, he said.

Inter-change of Ideas.

Judge Yeager said that one outstanding feature of fraternal orders is that they provide medium for inter-change of ideas. "By reason of this freedom of discussion and expression, there is provided a full and clear understanding of the meaning of democracy. We are able as individuals to understand true meanings."

He declared that our schools and churches fail in the teaching of democracy because "the expressions of an individual to a large number represent only the attitude of the one who is speaking."

C. W. Dillon of Scottsbluff, grand chancellor, and Mrs. Irma Grosshans, Kimball, grand chief of Pythian Sisters, spoke briefly. Grand officers of both orders were introduced. Group singing was led by H. de Grosse.

Following the banquet program, a dance was held at the K. P. hall.

Former Kaiser Safe, Message Indicates

. . . Probably In Doorn

BERLIN, May 15—(INS)—Representatives of the house of Hohenzollern received a message today indicating former Kaiser Wilhelm is safe and well, probably at Doorn house in Holland.

A telegram from Gen. Von Dommes, who was dispatched to the Doorn region to ascertain the ex-kaiser's whereabout, stated: "All is well."

On the basis of this message, sent from Emmerich on the German-Dutch frontier, it was assumed in Berlin that the former kaiser is at Doorn house, safe and well.
